buildings and places of interest, both in the town itself and in the surrounding As you walk around the narrow cobbled streets, you'll find Ducal palaces andan-tique churches from Llanes' historic past as well as outstanding works of art, for example, The Basque artist, Augustin Ibarrola's stunning piece, "The Cubes of Memory", situated in the port area, of which Ibarrolla himself declared "..it will be my most powerful work.

Small wonder Llanes has been designated a national site of historic and artistic interest! If works of nature are more in your line, however, you can choose from our 38 beaches and panoramic coastal walks...... Originally called the Puebla de Aguilar, Llanes was granted its charter during the first half of King Alfonso IX's reign. The remarkable walls, still clearly visible today, were built at this time, together with the sturdy defense tower.

Close by, in its own elegant plaza, is the quietly imposing Iglesia de Santa Maria, Built in the Gothic stlye and finished in 1480, the church boasts a beautiful Romanesque façade. Inside, the ornate plateresque altarpiece dates from the the 16th century and is well worth a moment or two's quiet contemplation. Apart from its tranquil beauty, the church is one of the most significant waypoints in the Camino de Santiago and interconnects with the monastery at San Antolín and that of San Salvador in the local village of Celorio, both to the west of Llanes.

> The compact centre of Llanes is studded with a variety of other historic gems:

The Palacio del Duque de Estrada, dating from the 17th century, the Casa del Cercáu built in the Rennaisance style in the 16th century and the Palacio de Gastañaga in the Plaza de Santa Ana (the oldest parts of which date from the 14th century). In Calle Mayor, Juan Pariente's house, where Carlos V slept when he visited the town, in 1517. Throughout the year art exhibitions and cultural activities take place in the municipal Casa de Cultura (Palacio de Posada Herrera 17th and 18th century) as well as in El Casino. The latter, situated on one of the town's main thoroughfares, was completed in 1910 and is an eclectic architectual confecion in the Modernist style of the times.

El Casino, together with many other beautiful buildings in Llanes was built with money brought back by the Indianos, people who had emigrated to South America and had returned home rich during the 19th and early part 20th century. A palm tree can be found in many of the grounds of these beautiful mansions as a symbol of their origin.

The many chapels in Llanes also form part of its fine architectual heritage, for example, elegant buildings like La Capilla de La Magdalena, built on the same site as the original 13th century parish church and La Capilla de San Roque in La Plaza de San Roque, which was originally part of a pilgrim's hospital and built in 1330. La Capilla de La Guia is from the 17th century, although it has been undergone various changes in the intervening years. La Capilla de Santa Ana, which dates from the 15th century, has also experienced a similar process of architectural transformation. This tranquil little chapel can be found close to the site of one of the main gates to the El Paseo de San Anton starts near the inner port, leads to the beach at El Puertu Chicu and continues on towards the beach at El Toró and its coastal path.

Similarly, the walk along the Carrocedo River begins in the part of the town known as El Cuetu and terminates in the idylic little village
